Solutions
TRAINING & ADVISORY LTD

All of the theory for Moving and Handling can be completed online with our unique "Bacs for the Future Plus" thereby saving your highly skilled staff from sometimes having to train small numbers of staff making it cost inefficient.

Bacs for the Future Plus is also unique because unlike many other "on line courses" that are nothing more than glorified PowerPoint slides or even worse just videos playing that then ask you to answer questions. Our courses are educationally robust and were developed by teams of specialist moving and handling experts from education, health & social care.

All courses are underpinned by:

- Bloom's taxonomy
- Gagne's Nine Events of Instruction
- Keller's ARCS model for Learner Motivation
- Bersin's five measures for e-Learning Effectiveness
- Kirkpatrick's four levels of Learning Evaluation Measurement

They will learn about:

- Roles and responsibilities
- Spinal Mechanics and back care
- Dynamic risk assessment using the LITE format
- Communication and team work
- The principles of safer handling

Bacs for the Future Plus is also unique because it gives the learner the opportunity to just take the assessments. So if they know the topic they don't waste their time doing the learning they simply select the option to complete the assessments. Whichever option chosen they receive certification automatically upon completion. During the one year access the course or assessments can be completed as many times as you choose.

The course contains over thirty film clips showing moving and handling techniques.

Case study:

Solutions have been training trainers in Moving and Handling for Lancashire County Council schools since 2005.

The challenge many have is finding time and resources to train new staff and time to update them. By using the on line Bacs for the Future Plus in many schools they are able to get staff trained as soon as they start and as the learner can access the course as many times as they wish during the one year licence fee of just £14.95 a head it is more cost effective. Plus of course it means consistent learning for all.

Participants at an instructor course in Lancashire in 2016 many of whom now use Bacs for the Future Plus.

No set up issues as the course is held on the Solutions Learning Management system so just give us their names and they will be up and running that day.
